Kirkland Academy Begins Their Story

Eatontown, New Jersey- Kirkland Academy, a new prep school located in Eatontown, is gearing up for the first season in Kirkland Academy history. The school is eagerly waiting to start developing its brand both on and off the field as the school year approaches. With 25 talented players on the roster from towns all around the tri state area, head coach Juwan Jackson has high expectations for the success on the field this year. The first practice will take place on Saturday, August 19th.

Although on field success will be important, the main focus of Kirkland Academy will using the year between high school and college to better these young athletes in all aspects of life. Our goal is to bring out the full potential of any student in the classroom, along with their ability on the football field. Kirkland Academy is an institution that was created to give students the extra push academically and athletically so they could achieve their dream of not only going to college but playing athletics on a Division I level.
